CHRISTMAS IN PRISON.

Ladies and Gentlemen
Made Glad 650 Prisoners.

PRESENTS FOR ALL.

Different Denominations of This City Represented.

Thoroughly imbued with the Christmas spirit, quite a number of ladies and gentlemen from this city determined to leave their big dinners at home and carry Christmas cheer inside the prison walls at Edwidge. They were not deprived of a regular Christmas dinner, however, for on arriving at the prison they were taken in hand by Warden Hagerman and his good wife and were entertained by them in that most hospitable manner peculiar to them. When the dinner hour arrived the visitors were seated around the private table of Mr. Hagerman and an elegant feast was served.

Mr. Hagerman and his assistants did everything possible for their guests. In fact, the doors of every department were thrown open to the visitors, who went through the hospital, the cell houses, etc., and inspected every cell.

The officers of the institution "turned the boys loose" on that great day and they were privileged to amuse themselves in any way they fancied.

While they were out on the grounds playing marbles, pitching quoits, enjoying musicales gotten up by the prisoners, the dining room, containing twenty-two long tables, was being gotten ready for the big Christmas dinner, the men in the kitchens below were rushing about like mad to get through with their work so as to enjoy the day with the others.

When the dinner hour was announced the prisoners were marched in, and after being seated, the feast began. The kind and thoughtful Warden and assistants were filled with the Christmas spirit and had ordered everything that could be done to make the "boys" happy.

At each prisoner's plate were placed apples, bananas and oranges in addition to the regular course, which consisted of pork sausage, hot rolls, light bread, beans, steaming hot coffee, etc.

But this was not all. The Baptist Sunday school of this city had sent down two or three boxes of oranges for the poor fellows and these, with the handsome calendars furnished by the State C. E. Union, were placed at the different plates. These remembrances were highly appreciated by the men in stripes, as well as what had been done for them by the warden and other officers of the institution, as was evidenced by the glad faces and the tell-tale sparkle of the prisoners' eyes.

In addition to the donations mentioned above, there were other donations from the following societies, individuals and Sunday schools:

Christian church society of Hopkinsville, handkerchiefs, neckties and 50 bags of candy; First Presbyterian church society, 250 pictures; Society of Cumberland church, topic cards for Endeavors; Sam Frankel, neckties and handkerchiefs; Licking Valley District Union, a library of 55 good books, which with others sent down, added 90 to the prison library; Anchorage Presbyterian Sunday school, 600 letters to prisoners and 600 Xmas cards. Then there were donations in cash from Louisville, Lexington, Newport and Covington, Ky., and a $5 donation for the work from a gentleman in New York City.

Nor was this all. While the men were feasting the visitors went through the old and new cell houses and left in each man's room a package of candy, as a farewell remembrance.

The service in the chapel, held shortly after 9 o'clock, was largely attended. The warden had ordered that word should be conveyed to the men that they need not attend these services if they preferred to engage in something else. Strange to say, that though the men of the white and of the chapel does not reach a hundred, the chapel, which seats about 650, was nearly full. After singing and a short reading and a short sermon by the visiting pastor, an opportunity was given to the men to join the societies, and something like twenty new members were added to the membership.

A year ago there were only five men belonging to the white society. Now the number about fifty.

There came another distribution of gifts from the Anchorage Presbyterian Sunday school. This donation consisted of a large number of Testaments for the members of the C. E. Societies, as well as little books, which contained a quotation from the Scriptures for each day of the year. Afterward there was a general distribution of Testaments to those who wanted them and promised to read them. The way in which the prisoners rushed up and held out their hands for them reminded one of the clamor for dollars when a street fakir sells dollars for 50 cents. There were not enough Testaments to go round, and State Superintendent of Prison Work, Miss Lucy Starling, would be glad if a hundred or more copies should be sent to her during the next few months. She would prefer Bibles, but will place all copies of either sent her. She wants every man in the prison walls to have a copy by July 4th next.

Altogether the day was a great one for the unfortunates, and they will long remember the liberal donations by the Christian, Baptist, Cumberland, Methodist and First Presbyterian churches of this city, as well as those from Anchorage and other places in the State. Also the gifts from Hopper & Kitchen of a large number of books, and R. C. Hardwick of pictures, will not be forgotten.

Our people here were never so interested in prison work as they are to-day, and the more active workers see great things for the future in the way of encouragement, as well as donations by our good people.

The negro minstrels of the prison gave the visitors a cake walk in one of the corridors of the prison just before leaving for their train. The visitors were delighted with the performance, which was far better than that given by many of the traveling companies. Then the happy minstrels, excepting those numbered among the "trusties," were locked up in their cells for the night.

Who Said Preacher's Son's Were Not Good.

No normal boy appears angelic in the limelight. The preacher's sons are always in the limelight. They are watched more critically, and judged more uncharitably, than any other boys. This is the way by which the community gets even with the parson for condemning its meanness. It is an unconscious revenge, but none the less complete on that account. If a preacher's boy rides a stick-horse, he is immediately reported to be "playing the races;" if he licks another boy who tries to bully him, at once he is held up as the "tough" and "outlaw" of the community, if he behaves himself as a model, he is suspected of hypocrisy. He is the one boy to whom the rights of boyhood are denied. But have you reflected upon the fact that the history of this nation has been largely made by the sons and daughters of preachers? If you have not it is time to look into the matter, and recognize the truth. As a starter, suppose you go hear one of the foremost men on the lecture platform of America, at the Tabernacle, Monday, Jan. 7. Frank Dixon is the youngest son of a family, of whom the father and three sons were all preachers. He is influencing the thought of the nation to-day profoundly.

Mr. Dixon does not come here to preach, but to lecture.

HOG CHOLERA

The Problem of a Cure is Now Solved.

The much dreaded disease, hog cholera, has lost its terror to those who are posted on modern methods of treating the disease. It is now a curable disease. Any practical farmer who will follow the instructions given by the manufacturers can stop the worst outbreak of disease that ever came and save almost every hog able to take the treatment and restore the herd to thrift in a few days time.

The Snoddy Remedy, manufactured by The Dr. J. H. Snoddy Remedy Co., of Alton, Ill., has been used in this country and has proven itself a positive cure for the much dreaded disease. It is now on sale in Hopkinsville, by the Planters Hardware Co., Inc., who will furnish any farmer or hog raiser one of Snoddy's books on hog cholera, free of charge, who will call at their store for it. Full directions for curing hog cholera is fully explained in this little booklet. Every farmer should have one. They are free, and it is hoped that the people will study up on this new method of treating the disease so they can feel safe from the disease when raising hogs and also so they will understand how to keep the cholera out of this country. The remedy is also on sale by E. W. Stegar & Dickson, down at Masonville, who will also furnish the farmer a copy of Snoddy's book on hog cholera, who will call there for it.

This remedy is the greatest worm remedy and thrift producer for hogs there is on the market. The extra gain they will make from its effect will return the farmer an average of $5 in this extra gain for every dollar's worth of the medicine he uses properly and right. Hence the remedy is not an expense to a farmer but is a profitable investment, and one that pays a greater profit than anything else on the farm the same amount of money can be invested into.

The remedy is certain in its action when properly used. It is impossible for a cholera germ or worm of any kind to live in a hog while that hog is under the influence of this remedy. The remedy will destroy every worm or germ of this kind and the hog will get well in a short while and be as thrifty as he ever was.

There are many imitations of this remedy being put on the market. Let everyone be careful that they do not buy an imitation of the goods. The public will know the genuine Snoddy Remedy by its having Dr. Snoddy's picture on every label. If a medicine for hog cholera is offered you that is claimed to be the Snoddy Remedy and does not have Dr. Snoddy's picture on the label, refuse it, because none are genuine without this picture. Dr. J. H. Snoddy is the original discoverer of the remedy and the Dr. J. H. Snoddy Remedy Co., uses his picture as a trademark. For further particulars call on the Planters Hardware Co., Incorporated, Hopkinsville, or E. W. Stegar & Dickson, at Masonville, Ky. The remedy is manufactured by Dr. J. H. Snoddy Remedy Co., Alton, Ill.
